University Website Redesign
UI/UX Project

2023

ABOUT

This project is a redesign of a website that belongs to a university in Madrid, Spain called Universidad Politécnica de Madrid. Being a student in this university the goal was to give the old dated website a new look to bring it back to life because it has not been updated since 2016.

Although it is not complete, this is a small case of the new look that the website could have including the homepage, some sections of the website and the administrator dashboard.
